Expanding Horizons

Even an A-list Hollywood star's trailer looks trashy in comparison, this state-of-the-art caravan is a palace on wheels. In a Bespoke exclusive, meet the mobile home to replace your home.

In our quest to bring you revolutionary vehicles, we found this beauty. Working with Mercedes-Benz, Spanish architectural firm, A-Cero has designed the caravan to end all caravans, clearly more than a home away from home.

It won't be easy to get around a corner (and it will need a trucking license to drive) but when your mobile home comes with an on-board garage and its own Smart car, narrow roads aren't an issue. Speaking of which, neither are narrow interiors. One side of the vehicle can be retracted and extended, concertina-style, though you might not want to try that while you're still on the move.

The furniture is made from Corian, the composite material you'll know from many a kitchen counter. It's used here not only to lend the interiors a cool, clean and modern feel but also to soak up vibrations caused by travel, meaning more peace and quiet for you.

Our favourite feature of all? Forget the king-sized bedroom, the kitchen and the living room with the LED screen that's hidden behind the mirror, we vote for the bathtub. Because having a garage in your caravan may be impressive but it's being able to take a soak on the move that confirms you are king of the road. 🚗
